18th. WpUmalic reception ai Madame llonaparte'a ai the Tuilerieit:

So it '.«* war you want ?

(Lord YVhttworth: No, First (\m.*ml; we appreciate too deeply the benefits of jH'ftoe.)

\Ve have already IK*W at war for fifteen yearn!

(Whitworth: That i* already too much.)

But ytw want to continue for another fifteen yew*, -you fore? nu* to it. The English want war, hut if they arc first to draw the sword, I shall IM* hint to phut* it in the gcahhnrd. They don't observe treaties; we uhall have to veil them in emj*e. If you want to arm, I will arm too; if you want to tight, I too will fight. Woe betide those who do not re*jH*et treaties! Thr Frrneh people ran he killed, hut ennttot !K» intiutidate<ii

10th. iTo (Jenerid Hedouville.) The Kir«t Consul w di.stres»H*ii tti .»» that, in the faee of all Kur<»|»% ii.HprrH>on?» have l«vn rn4 on hi>* gtMnl faith, and that the English Ministry, in a ptihtte d*H'i»uent, have -HttggeHtwl that at n time of jH'iwr tl»' First (on«ul wa» meditating a tnilitury o|M'rntutft, Tin attark on hU ginwl faith hiw wcmnttetl him dei'ply, and Sunday last, at Mndame Bonttpftrtr's reeeption, he wi/^l the »»pj*ortunity of exprmtirig his w*n-tunent^ on an tH-en-mm that was likely to Irrttl to what he Httid, Jhf*ay* 1 •»!, *IF theI«nli4i Ami»w,»»wtor i«not - • He U prtihithty ptw*ki«g up!

(T« Ttdlryrm!,! Vottr lH.tr? wiw handed to me At Mtihfmi*on. If the n«»te eiintninn the w«»nl uitimiitum, mnk»* htm underatjuwl ttmt Ihttt word mennn wni-i if the, note. «!««»«* not etmtmn it, get hint to put it in, on we mu*t know when* we AH*,